DECORATING THE MANSION

In a multiple day decorating extravaganza, Mount Hope Mansion is transformed inside and out into a seasonal wonderland. Beginning with the wreath hung over the golden knocker on the front door and throughout the first floor, the decorations echo the classic elegance and colorful sophistication of the Victorian era. Boughs of evergreens topped with velvet ribbons are strung from floor to ceiling and throughout the halls. Gigantic Victorian displays adorn the many mantles, while glowing candles twinkle in every window and throughout the outside grounds surrounding the Mansion. Opulent Christmas trees, the largest of which stands at an impressive 15 feet, are bedecked with the theme "A Sweet Holiday"

A special thanks to Carrie Emich-Wallace and her helpers—Judy and Shane for the 100+ hours they dedicated to the Holiday decorations we enjoy this season!

Come together with family and friends for merrymaking and good cheer during the annual Open House at Mount Hope Estate & Winery.

The historic Mount Hope Mansion is filled with unique architectural and design elements that reflect both the Federal and Victorian influences. Explore the mansion and surrounding area to take a closer look at these unique features. Throughout the Mansion: Take a peek at the intricate table settings for the annual interactive dinner theater performance of Holidays at Mount Hope!

ENTRANCE/FRONT HALLWAYS

The Entrance Hallway was once the front porch, enclosed to provide a comfortable waiting area for guests to the Mansion.

The massive original Paul Revere iron lock on the front door is 8x16" in dimension, 1 3/4" thick, with a 10" key that weighs about one pound. Through the original front door, visitors enter a central hall ending with the serpentine freestanding walnut staircase, intact from the 1800s. The circular stairway is the earliest surviving example of this form known in Lancaster County.

The deer head hanging in the Front Hallway is a hand-made molded plaster, complete with glass eyes and real antlers. From this front entry hall, four identical doorways give access to flanking rooms. False walls were built in the 1895 remodel so that the original six-panel hinged doors could be converted to sliding doors.

BILLIARD ROOM

Added in the 1895 renovation. The mantel which rests above the spacious hearth in the billiard room is composed of one massive piece of sandstone quarried on the estate. "Around the Hearth of Thy Ancient House, The Days Turn into Hours." Victorian social etiquette dictated that women were not permitted in the Billiard Room, including the estate owner, Miss Daisy. She commissioned the daisy and eye carvings to the fireplace mantel to remind everyone that, "Daisy is watching...".

The massive new bar in the Billiard Room was installed in November of 2017. It was built in the late 1800's in Ireland and shipped to New York. The bar then found its home in the Elizabethtown Inn in the 1920's where it remained until going into storage two years ago before being purchased for the Mansion.

Libations by the Glass: Featuring a selection of Mount Hope Wines, Swashbuckler beers, Lancaster County Ciders, and seasonal cocktails featuring Spirits Distilling Company.

LIBRARY

While the Library was part of the original ten room house, major renovations took place in 1895. Most notable are the black Egyptian marble mantle, bookcase with glazed doors, wainscot with raised panels, and the parquet floor. At the west side of the Library, a doorway gives access to the alcove which houses the late Victorian chestnut and grillwork elevator which operated using water from the local pond.

DINING ROOM

The wall-covering in this room is the original Victorian silk damask. Much like the pocket doors featured throughout the mansion, "vanishing" shutters were added that fold back into the wall to disappear from view. The built-in glass cupboards feature five shelves, and secret compartments on the bottom to hide valuable items. The ceiling, restored in 1982, features four small panels with still-life fruit. The metal buttons on the floor around were used to call servants during the meals.

MORNING PARLOR

The Morning Parlor features a white Egyptian marble mantle that echoes the fireplace located in the Library. The grand gold-leafed mirrors are original to the mansion and were designed to amplify the morning sunlight coming in through the windows.

Kid's Holiday Craft: Join in the sweetness of the Mansion decor and make your very own Candy Cane Ornament. A confection that is believed to date back to 1670.

PINK PARLOR

Heavy French influences are noted by the two magnificent corner cupboards. The pink border along the ceiling is typically Victorian in its repetitive patterns and is attributed to Miss Daisy Grubb. Italian artists were brought in to hand paint the cherubs on the ceiling. The tile work on the fireplace is from the Minton Pottery in England.

CHAPEL

In 1995, the Chapel was built to provide additional theater space where guests can enjoy seasonal theater productions and holding private events including weddings.

Enjoy parlor games and carols with Daisy Grubb and her friends at Noon, 1:30, 2:30 & 3:30.

BALLROOM

Of all the elements of the 1895 addition, the ballroom is the most lavish, featuring highly ornate Victorian designs. The ballroom and billiard room are among the most elegant and intact examples of high-style domestic architecture in south-central Pennsylvania from the period 1890-1910. Stained-glass panels adorn both sides of the room and parts of the ceiling. The mirror along the western wall measures 13x5' and is surrounded by two Greek columns. A solid bronze statue signed by Carriere sits in front. The chandelier contains over 700 pieces of crystal. The massive painting, original to the Mansion, is referred to as the Assumption and dates to the 1600s. At the rear wall of the original house is a conversation niche.

Don't miss performances by Seasons - a Mount Hope festival favorite! 11:00, 12:30, 2:00 & 3:00.

CARRIAGE HOUSE

Originally built in the late 1700's, the Carriage House sheltered Henry Bates Grubb's horses and carriages. Converted in the 1980s into the Mount Hope Wine Shop, the original stone structure and roof of the original Grubb Estate Carriage house is completely enclosed, safely preserving it for centuries to come.

MISS DAISY GRUBB

THE LIGHT FAMILY

THROUGH THE YEARS

Estate History from the 1700s to Today

EARLY YEARS

Mount Hope began as the summer home for four generations of the Grubb family, an early American iron master family who found their way from England seeking their fortune. The properties that were to become the Estate were purchased in 1779 and Peter Grubb established an iron furnace at Mount Hope in 1784. His son, Henry Bates Grubb, built the original Federal period Mansion between 1800-1805. At the same time, the formal gardens surrounding the Mansion were created including trees, an elaborate grand avenue of colored flowers and pillared entrances to the various stone roadways leading to the Estate, all of which continues to exist this day.

1800s

Daisy Elizabeth Brooke Grubb (1850-1936) was the last member of the Grubb family to reside at Mount Hope. It was she, in 1895, who enlarged the manor home to an elaborate 32-room Mansion, complete with ballroom and billiards room, that featured many Victorian elements in a unique blend of Federal and Victorian architecture. Special elements included a freestanding walnut staircase in the front hallway, brass and crystal chandeliers, Egyptian marble fireplaces, stained glass windows and ceilings, hand painted ceilings, parquet wood floors, built-in glass cupboards, and hidden walls that accommodate sliding doors.

1900s

Miss Daisy passed away in 1936 and Mount Hope was subdivided and sold. It passed through several owners until December 1979 when the estate was purchased from the Light family by Chuck Romito, who envisioned it as a place where award-winning, quality wines were produced and sold. Vineyards were planted, wines were made and Mount Hope Winery opened for business in 1980. To attract visitors to Mount Hope, a series of weekend events, including a modern-day jousting tournament, presented by a Maryland jousting club. The success of this event led to the creation of a one-day Renaissance Festival held in the Estate parking lot.

TODAY

The second and third floors of the spacious Mansion are used by the staff of Mount Hope Estate as offices and new owners, Scott and Heather Bowser, have dedicated themselves to the continuation of teaching and educating through living history. The PA Renaissance Faire is a 35-acre festival running 13 weekends from August to October, welcoming over 200,000 guests annually. Extensive renovations to the home have been undertaken and continue today, all with an eye and ear for entertainment and culture, and with the understanding that the Mansion at Mount Hope is to be a home for all to enjoy. We think Miss Daisy would be pleased.

NEW - FIRESIDE RYE PORTER & WHISKEY

Mount Hope Estate & Winery, home of Swashbuckler and Spirits Distilling began distilling its draft and bottled beer into a complementary spirit in 2018. Customers were able to experience the excellent beer and distillation form of that beer as whiskey with SBC Neptune's Imperial Stout and Spirits Distilling Company Imperial Stout Whiskey.

Whiskey is fundamentally made from beer. "Distiller's beer" - the wash resulting from the fermentation of a combination of grain, water, and yeast - is used as the foundation for unique, experimental whiskeys carrying many of the beer's characteristics.

Swashbuckler and Spirits Distilling proudly introduce their Holiday seasonal collaboration.

SBC's Fireside Rye Porter possesses subtle hints of toasted caramel and beech smoked malts to accentuate this chestnut brown, full-bodied porter. Bottle conditioned for optimum freshness with 7.25% ABV and 25 IBU.

The Spirits Distilling Fireside Rye carries the porter's familiar flavors of caramel and malts through its smooth mouthfeel. 40% ALC/VOL (80 Proof)

Enjoy them side by side for a unique tasting and gift idea!
